Coal Conference Held at Janesville Hears of Shortage

Whole Section of State Represented Here
Transportation Breakdown Blamed for Conditions.

That Janesville is no worse off than other cities of the surrounding country was brought out last night at a meeting of the retail coal dealers of Janesville and the vicinity. The coal situation remains as serious as it was two weeks ago. Despite the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the movement and priority of cars, there has been no noticeable increase in the supply in this locality according to the dealers who declare that they are helpless in the matter.

Meeting of Dealers

The meeting was called by the Janesville dealers for the purpose of considering the situation. There were representatives from Madison, Beloit, Monroe, Edgerton, Chicago, Milton, Delavan, Avalon, Whitewater, Haverhill, Stoughton, Footville, Oxford, Milton Junction and Harvey, Ill.

When asked as to the amount of coal he has this year compared to last year at the same time, Mr. W. A. Dean of Avalon said, "I don't know what coal you like in Avalon. We've seen any year this year."

Footville has had no hard coal but has been normally supplied with soft.

Condition Specified in States

Delavan representatives said that they have but five to ten percent of the hard coal that they had last year at the same time. They said that they have had hardly any Illinois coal having received but two cars since the first of April.

Beloit has ten percent of its normal hard coal supply and 75 percent of soft coal.

Monroe has received neither hard nor soft coal in any significant amount.

Edgerton, although well supplied with soft coal has had but 10 percent of its normal amount of hard coal.

Haverhill has received no coal at all.

Milton is short on its shipments by over 80 percent in soft coal and James Doyle, dealer of that city declared that to date he has received no hard coal.

About Getting Coal

Hermon Loeffler of Janesville, said, "I haven't got a pound of hard coal yet but have got about the usual amount of soft.

LaRunyan, secretary of the Retail Coal Association of Wisconsin and Illinois, informed discussion on the problem of getting coal. He laid the cause of the shortage of the railroads who he said were not holding up their end of the job. He said the general inadequacy of the railroads' rail system, the lack of coal cars, the volume of business they do they receive five and one half percent on their investment under the Esch-Cummings act have not rendered the maximum of service with the result that the entire country is hampered.

Coal Dealers Responsible Too

It was shown too, that the coal jobbers are instead of holding the price when they bid against each other and manufacturers that will raise the price to get the coal. Mr. LaRunyan said that the jobber is more responsible for the inflation of price than the producers.

F. W. Wilford of Beloit said that the only way will be possible to secure the normal amount for essential consumers will be to curtail the non-essential manufacturers.

CONFESSED HE SET
FIVE HOTEL FIRES

Boston, June 30.—James Hobco, Clifton, N. J.; a deserter from the navy confessed that he set fire to five hotels here within the past week according to a statement from police headquarters. He is charged with arson. The police said he probably would be held to the psychiatric hospital for observation because of his history. Another said he had "wheels in his head."

The man apparently went to each hotel for the purpose of setting it afire. In each case the blaze occurred in the early morning and was started in the early morning, and was started in a short distance from the room occupied by Hobco.

ROCK CO. FARMERS
INVADE MADISON

Several hundred Rock County farmers, all members of the farm bureau, met at Evansville at 9:30 a. m. with their families and drove to Madison to attend the annual state day of the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin. The autos all carried banners reading "Rock County Farmers."

Mr. Wilson is steadily keeping his hands off agriculture and again in the sessions held thus far in this in a Wilson convention—the delegates are by law supporters of the Wilson policies. They are for Palmer and Coolidge.

He would win the nomination. Similarly because of McAdoo's record in favor of labor, he holds a commanding position here.

The size of the veto block of votes, said to be at least one-third, is also a factor in the election, but McAdoo's chances had receded slightly when word came that he had again upset the plans of his friends and asked them not to present his name.

COUNTY PHYSICIANS
HEAR MADISON MAN

The Rock County Medical association held a meeting in the Baptist church at Evansville last night. After a dinner given by the women of the church, Dr. George W. Peck, president of the American Medical Association, read a paper on "High Blood Pressure." Those from this city who attended were Drs. J. F. Peimer, Frank Nuzum, T. J. Snodgrass, M. A. Cunningham and F. B. Welch.

The official figures on the choice of presidential electors, according to the latest announcement by Luis Barrios Borjas, in the El Tiempo, unionist candidate, 13 votes and Arturo Alessandri, candidate of the liberal alliance 18 votes.

"I sold my complete stock of house and barn paint in two days through two-acts in the classified section of the Gazette," William Milpolsky, manager of the J. E. Housewrecking company said.

ANYTHING TO BEAT MCADOO IS LATEST LINE-UP IN FRISCO

Various Requests to Withdraw

San Francisco, June 30.—Anything to beat McAdoo. That is the line up here today. Back of the movement are not merely the managers of the Cox and Palmer campaigners, but those who have the faint hope that a favorite son may be nominated. A dark horse who has few votes now but who may grow on Harding did at Chicago, if the leaders in the race are eliminated.

Initiate G. O. P. Strategy

The democrats may be the last people to admit that they would support anything repulsive, but the spirit of rebellion seems to be among some of the managers here. Just as there was a combination to beat Leonard Wood at Chicago, there's a coalition afoot to defeat McAdoo. The states who have decided to hold the horses intact for dark horses.

The Palmer and Cox managers feel that if McAdoo does get up to 500 votes or so, the veto power which they hold of one-third of the votes or the opposition, the favorite's combination may be sufficient to stop the advance of McAdoo.

Conditions Not Easy

But conditions against McAdoo are not so easy to sustain here. This convention is not closely controlled by leaders who can be expected to depend on the "Big Three." Cox is considered a close second. But none of the three claims a majority for election. Where the Palmer and Cox votes if these two are eliminated as predicted will go after the first ballot is the factor that will tell the tale.

McAdoo is conceded by political observers as having the strongest hold of the "Big Three." Cox is considered a close second. But none of the three claims a majority for election.

CUMMINGS LOOMS AS DARK HORSE

Patriotism and Politics Push
July 4th on Calendar
Says Abe Martin

Keynote Speech Gave Connecticut Man Strong Standing at Convention.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1920, by The Janesville Gazette.

San Francisco, June 29.—Homer Cummings of Connecticut stands out as far as the dark horse is concerned. If McCauley fails to win and the delegates are in a prolonged deadlock, the remarkable impression made by Cummings in his keynote speech which was full of fire, is strong. Wilson would command him to the large number of delegates who are supporting Palmer and McCauley, but are at heart for the Wilson policies no matter who the candidate may be. Cummings is a Wilson man through and through.

Dark Horse Problem. Convention of states has made the nomination of a dark horse just as much possible here as it was in Chicago. The tactics of each of the big three leaders—Palmer, Cox, and McCauley, are as such to make it equally possible the winning away of the strength of each. The McCauley sympathizers have more enthusiasm than shrewdness. They are minus any real leadership and while this is a tribute to the disinterestedness of McCauley himself, it makes for claimlessness and amateurishness and confusion.

Palmer-Cox Combined. Nobody is apparently able to handle second and third choice votes so that the McCauley strength is not cumulative. The delegates are uncontrollable. They want to go for him at the first ballot. Also the talk of McCauley has grown so loud that the opponents of the former secretary of the treasury have virtually been forced into a coalition against him. Efforts to form Palmer and Cox combination with temporary assistance from favorite son groups are proceeding in alarming fashion. The presence here of several cabinet officers, all working for McCauley, has not helped his cause. Doing nothing is the delegations' spontaneous desire for McCauley is understandable and they are prepared to make hard fight.

Holding Back on First. Each of the managers is trying to make the other show the strength of the first ballot. Even the Palmer forces are trying to hold back at first and bring their greatest strength to bear on successive ballots. Even the Palmer forces are trying to hold back at first and bring their greatest strength to bear on successive ballots. These are also the tactics and it looks now as if both had succeeded in forcing McCauley to take the lead, earlier than was expected. Once McCauley begins to lose and is passed by Cox, Palmer, the enthusiasm of the McCauley men may be somewhat dampened and it is not inconceivable that they would turn to a dark horse.

Cummings Is Estimated. Homer Cummings showed on the second day of the convention that he was just as high in the esteem of the delegates as when he delivered his keynote speech. When recommended, he received a unanimous demonstration of approval. And then the delegates, having given the women something which the republicans denied them at Chicago, every state will have a woman on the democratic national committee, not merely in an advisory capacity, as heretofore, but in an executive position with the male members.

Cummings Boom Takes Form. When the convention had adjourned for the day and the delegates got back to their hotels, they found hand bills reading: "Homer Cummings for president of the United States." His keynote speech has already won for him the presidency throughout the land. Put aside petty prejudice and consider in terms of party success and you will see that the Cummings words of today will ring around the world. The truly great orator of the truly great leader of the 1920 democracy. A great moment has produced a great man. America needs Homer Cummings for president.

Connecticut There Too. The posters were signed by "San Francisco Civilian Democrats" but the Connecticut delegation which has endorsed Cummings for president probably had something to do with it. The delegates are talking more about Cummings than any other dark horse though Vice President Marshall and Champ Clark are men whom of the conservative elements in the party who are restive under Wilson leadership. The consideration of dark horses would bring the Palmer and McCauley men close together to nominate a Wilson man. That would make Cummings logical.

Unit Rule Broken. The McCauley supporters feel highly encouraged by the breaking of the unit rule in New York state. George Lunn and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Frank Murphy, fought a successful battle for the unit rule and now it is possible for New York's 30 votes to be split up. Charlie Murphy's power is diminished. He will try to hold his delegation together for Gov. Al Smith or the theory that a deadlocked convention may yield the nomination to the New York delegation. He will hold that over the heads of recalcitrant delegates but the number which probably will go to McCauley in that New York delegation is about 25. There are also Cox and Palmer men in New York state. Murphy may be able to keep 25 votes for Smith indefinitely but once released from that pledge, there is no telling to which candidate New York will ultimately throw her votes.

McAuley In Lead. As matters stand, McCauley is in the lead, but no one in his camp here can demonstrate categorically or definitely which the full two-thirds is coming from. And if McCauley doesn't win the prize, neither Palmer nor Cox will, but someone like Cummings will be exhibited as a compromise.

CITY PAYES FOR NEW 2-TON DUMP TRUCK

Payment of $4,605.41 to Alex Russell for the city's new motor dump truck has been ordered by the council, the money to be taken from the highway fund.

Street Commissioner Thomas McKune is satisfied with the new outfit and says it almost constant. Equipped with removable steel beds it can transport anything from lumber to gravel. Its capacity load is 4,000 pounds, 40x8 size in the rear, and 26x6 in front.

It's Buckeye Republicans slip over a secret to the States, or a game swindle, it's been many years since they've had a statesman in their ranks big enough to beat Jimmy Cox. Cox is a magnetic campaigner, owns a couple of crackerjack newsmen, is friendly to the Cox press. Dispatch to Harry will have to carry his gospel, "say nothin' o' carryin' Indiana," which is a remote possibility with Tom Taggart aroused, t'wixt, not grantin' that he'll carry New York, which is wet. They'll be in the sun as soon as pen these lines, indicating that th' Democrats will be away, th' other chances, but th' allusion that chance up t' th' last minute as wuz demonstrated at Chicago. Th' light beer, an' wide advocates are workin' hard, but not much is being said, both men are again under the eighteenth amendment. Yesterday I fell in with a tall, thin, spaced delicate that runs a Democratic paper in a Republican county in Illinois. "I'm not a drinkin' man," said he, "but there's social occasions when I do, reakin' a bottle o' lemon extract. I think, however, it's far better for my community to have a bar in nine regular saloons with restrictions not to sell to those who drink. Our women are takin' up brewin' at th' expense o' regular household duties, an' many o' our people are drinkin'

Lentine Receives French Socialists Visiting Russia

Paris, June 30.—Marcel Cachin and M. Frossard, French socialists visiting Russia, have been received yesterday by Nikolai Lenin, Russian Bolshevik premier, according to a Berlin dispatch to the "Paris" paper. The meeting, it is reported, was held at the German capital. It is understood that the Bolsheviks at the German capital have been informed that Lenin "told the Frenchmen" that reconciliation between the Bolsheviks and western European socialists must be based on the admission of the latter to the international and the recognition of the right of the Bolsheviks to carry on their propaganda.

San Francisco, June 30.—This is the third day of the Democratic National Convention and after a permanent organization is effected the remainder of the day is to be devoted to "fiddlin'." COAL CONFERENCE CALLED OFF TO WAIT LABOR ACTION

The coal conference which was to have been held at Superior has been called off according to telegram received by the Chamber of Commerce at Janesville yesterday.

The reason was also stated in a letter to Manager Harmon. The rail conference on the subject of settlement of the miners' strike and some other matters by the interstate commerce commission no action worth while could be had.

A letter from the Northwestern

Coal Dock Operators Association to the chamber says among other things:

"The delay in receiving the customary coal supply for the northwest by lake this year is due to an acute coal shortage in the United States and the whole territory east of the Mississippi is now facing a crisis.

Hundreds of telegrams insist upon immediate relief for public utilities with only 12 to 48 hours supply of fuel are received daily by the interstate commerce commission.

The New York City made appeal today to the commission and president for relief within the next 24 hours or their public service plants would shut down. In every eastern center there is reported a similar condition and under such circumstances the commission is unwilling to issue any priority order in favor of the northwest. They are fully aware of the shortage and possible disastrous results in all

TEACHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL, FORMED IN '11, STILL GROWING

Will Meet With City Attorney to Lay Out New Garbage Ordinance.

The Rock County Training school for teachers holding its ninth annual summer session in the Jefferson Park, the second ward. It was organized in 1911 by Frank J. Lowth, principal. The school which will last until July 30, embraces courses in arithmetic, civics, grammar and composition, American literature, English literature, general science, domestic science, civics, civics history, modern history, geography, algebra, and the theory of teaching. The Misses Elsie and Louise Jacobson, Elkhorn, and Prin. F. S. Lowth, this city, are in charge of instruction.

The school is primarily for teachers of Rock county only, teachers from other counties may enroll. The purpose of the school is to allow teachers to either renew their certificates, or to get certificates for higher grades. There have been 1,000 certificates issued.

There is no charge to residents of Rock county, and the payment of the small fee of $1.50 by the student permits the use of all required textbooks, and of a library of 1,000 volumes. The only expenses incurred are those for board and room while attending school.

The Rock County Training school now has an alumni association of 175 members. Of this number about two-thirds will teach in the county during the coming school year. O. D. Antis, county superintendent of schools, and F. J. Lowth, principal of the school, issue a monthly bulletin during the school year, containing news items and information upon educational matters. The number of copies is being around 1,000.

Through the Rock County Bulletin, all teachers are kept in touch with vacancies in schools, and by making applications to the school superintendent can find positions.

At the conclusion of summer's session, a day of examinations will be held, and immediately after, Mr. Lowth will leave for Chicago where he expects to take up courses at Chicago university.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BY PHILLIS PHILIPS

AN EMBARRASSING SITUATION AND A LAME EXPLANATION.

Morgan told me himself this morning about his engagement. He seemed very matter-of-fact about the whole thing, and my heart sank for pity when I heard it. I know one thing he did mention was that it was awfully difficult to understand any girls other than art. And that Laura had suggested that they live in a little quiet suburb, where there was no noise, and where I walked Laura, Edmonds—and Jack's mother!

Morgan had just gotten a good start on his picture when there came a soft little knock at the studio door, and I heard her hearty "Come in" as I walked Laura, Edmonds—and Jack's mother!

In very pity to myself I should really drop the curtain right here but that is not my way of doing things. I face them fearlessly, come what may.

The look of astonishment and hatred on Laura's face, when she saw us, would have made a much more hardened person than myself quail at his boots, or hers, and as for Mrs. Edmonds—well, words fail me completely.

"That's true—you're engaged to an outsider, too, Lindsey. Do you think that you'll be able to get along—in a suburb?"

It told him that I could not tell until I had given it a chance, but that I intended to keep up my painting, and had a studio already planned at the very top of the house.

We had a long talk on marriages in general, and nearly noon had come when one of us realized that I had come to the point.

At Morgan's request I slipped into some gleaming yellow silk draperies and placed an orange hand round my head, then took a seat on the model stand. The pose was a graceful one, and my arms extended in an ecstatic embrace of the elements. Ready easy enough, I know, but is hard to hold for very long at a stretch.

I had to rest every few minutes, and every now and then I looked over Morgan's shoulder to see what he was doing with my youth and beauty. He is a brilliant painter, and will make a name for himself without doubt—it is his hobby, and doesn't swamp him completely. But

CARRY PUPILS TO SCHOOL, NOT SCHOOL TO PUPILS, IS PLAN

Reports on transportation of rural school children of the county during the year are being received by Sup't O. D. Antis.

District number 2, Union, which transports its pupils to schools of Brooklyn is the largest school which transports them the winter. Children 14 to 16 years old and six to the high school, were taken from different parts of district two, Union, to Brooklyn, every morning and taken back every afternoon. This has been done for a number of years. Last fall, the state paid the transportation for this purpose, but because of the deep snow it was necessary, the greater part of the winter, to hire a team thus increasing the expense which for the season, amounted to about $800. Even with this increased expense, it was cheaper to do this than to hire a teacher, it is claimed.

If an 80 per cent attendance is made during the year, state aid for transportation received, which in the case of district two, will amount to $150. The rest of the expense is paid by the individual school districts.

Some schools of the county find it cheaper to transport than to hire a teacher, and for the last few years have been using sleighs, buggies and any kind of vehicle for this purpose.

"That's good nature," he said. "And certainly we do not want to wear you out in one day. We only wanted to see you. You will get acquainted, and we hope you'll find us very comfortable and happy here. We have a fashion of trying to be happy. We are going to say good night and allow you to settle to new surroundings in privacy. It is the kind of thing we can do. I will show you to your room. Just, take care of Dr. Michelson. Good night, doctor."

Mrs. Sidney stood by Mr. Sidney as he was speaking. I had thought at first seeing her that she was very beautiful, and that now she was very ugly. Seeing her again, I received my first impressions.

Jed preceded me through corridors to my door and left me surely. As he closed the door I thought I heard another sound than that of the clicking of the bolt of the outside. Jed had locked me in. I made sure of this by trying the door. It could not be opened. Here was an appalling situation for a first-timer. I was in a place. My first idea was to make a noise, a knock for an explanation, but on second thought I did not. My room was on the second floor, and I saw, looking out of the window, that it would not be difficult to make a descent on the roof in an emergency. I decided not to begin my stay with a protest against any habitation of the house or occurrences in it. In the night I was awakened out of a sound sleep with an idea that I had been disturbed by noises, and nothing I could find substantiated it, and I went to sleep again.

I was fully dressed and found that my door had been unbolted. I examined the outside of it for a bolt and had difficulty in finding one, so ingeniously had it been concealed. The knob seemed to pass the decoration of the pane, and the bolt was in the steel. I found it only by finding the socket into which it could be shot.

The rain had stopped, and although the woods were dripping, there was a glorious, radiant sunlight. The sun was exhilarating. It worked a spiritual change. Man, said the morning, was made to be happy.

Exulting in pleasant emotions, I let myself out of the main door and relaxed in the beauty of the place and the moment, took a step, and walked across the lawn toward the woods. A gardener asked me if I was the new doctor and said if I would come to the cottage beyond the gardens. His infant had a cough.

The house was the first person I saw, and to my astonishment he was not only civil but pleasant and considerate.

"Did you have a fair night doctor?" he asked. "Sometime last night in a new place is not good, and I only you understand. We have had our occasion at times for looking outside on the outside as well as on the inside, and last night I forgot myself and threw the bolt of your door. I am occasionally in liquor, and last night I had a touch too much."

I smiled at his candor and said something jokingly in comment.

"A servant can't be blamed, doctor for that," he said. "If his master leads him into it. We have been before breakfast. I'll tell you another time the morning papers are in the library. There's a porch off it, with a good view. It's my favorite spot of a morning. I recommend that you have your coffee there."

His friendliness was great, but I found him distinctly good, and having had a coffee, enjoyed it with a half hour of magnificent view and a cigarette. The morning was edorous after the rain.

The house was charming structural disorder of L's and wings,

Just Got Over a Cold?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Janesville man says:

J. T. Waggoner, proprietor of furniture store, 21 S. River St., says: "Two years ago I took cold and it settled on my kidneys and my bladder became very much inflamed. The kidney secretions passed too often, but seemed to be retarded. My back was weak and at times was very painful. I became alarmed at my condition and a member of my family suggested that I try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box and used them according to directions and they helped me from the first. When I had finished the second box, I was as well as ever. The troubles disappeared entirely and I am in good health today. I have recommended Doan's many times."

porches and balconies. It was very old, and one could see where different sections had contributed to its growth. The walls were backgrounds for hollyhocks or support for climbing roses or ivy. It had plenty of sunlight, but dense white oak woods came close by.

I held myself in silence to attend at his convenience, but it was 10 o'clock before I was summoned. Mr. Sidney was pleasant and animated.

"We must arrive at a schedule," I suggested. "It's a little too late in the day to satisfy Dr. Brownell's idea of what my duties are."

"But, my dear doctor," he said, "I do not wake until nine. I need my sleep. I do not go to bed until one."

"I should advise early hours," I said.

"Of course you would, but I must remember that you are dealing with a man, at the end of his life, trying to make the most of it. I like to remain awake late."

"Then you must," I said. "I shall consider it settled to see you at ten. I will sometimes sit up with me until one. Do you like chess?"

"I never played."

"Luckily, Jed does just well enough to interest me and have me beat him. Do you like wine?"

"I like wine, I do. It is a great satisfaction to have some one whom you can beat at chess and whom you can see enjoying wine. Doctor, I have yielded to my friend Brownell's demand for constant attention, but as you can see, we will go on. I guess I am for a physician to do. I sleep well, I sleep well, and so long as my sensations are pleasant I want to live. They are not always pleasant, but mostly they are so. I like to have you as a new friend in the house. I like to be talked to. I like to be told, 'Will you relax and be just a friend?'

"With pleasure," I said, "so long as nothing interferes with the physician."

"That's a bargain," he said. "It's three o'clock this afternoon you shall have me. You will notice the other day how bad the road was, and how it went twisting all about."

"I was driving," said Barton, in his precise way. "Certainly I noticed."

"Maybe you didn't stop to figure out, it is crooked. There's a creek that winds all about. If one big bridge and two little ones were built, we could straighten the road about eight miles, and open up seven big tracts of farmland. We went to those seven farms. Each toward the westward to ride a horse, to the bridge, and next morning, they returned, having got the horses, and making a road. Then I went to the County Commissioner and he said the County would give three hundred dollars more. We've got 500,000 people to work and the girls will work for us, and the government will give us 100,000 dollars, and the farmers will lend us their teams."

"If we pay four experts five dollars a day for four Saturdays, use the teams that are offered, and do the labor ourselves, we could put up 100 houses for a hundred dollars, having first paid rates for a couple of logging teams to haul the timbers. We'd be five hundred and fifty dollars to the good, we'd have bettered the community, and saved ourselves an amount of money."

"Great stuff!" said Jim. "That trail certainly gave me the Willies."

"It is a good business proposition," agreed Barton.

There wasn't a dissenting voice, and orders were sent to the other settlers to report at 6 o'clock Saturday morning with tools, and all the girls with boxes of grub.

The dogs were not friendly then. The dogs are not friendly then. His surliness was easily passed over. I was good natured and wished to have heard of the haunted bay."

"Every fool in and about the place talks of that," he said. "You will not too much of the story talk to soon. But that's not why we have the dogs. We won't take any stock in ghosts in the house."

He was offended and went away.

At three o'clock I saw my patient again, and he wanted me to ride him. I read to him for an hour. Then he took a nap.

"A very wise, deliberate, practical woman," she replied, "one able to live on your salary."

"You see that fine house? A man built that with the money he saved on cigarets."

FOUR GAMES WITH STALEYS PROVIDE BIG LOCAL BILL

Strongest Team, According to Records, in Chicago League Here This Week-End.

Four games with A. E. Staleys of Decatur, Ill., form the program of the opening week-end for the Sammies Tractors. One game will be played on Saturday, another on Sunday and two on Monday, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Staleys comprise what is generally called the steepest team of the Chicago league, so that local fans are in for a series of the toughest baseball for the Iron Men. Yet to put before the Iron Men, The Staleys have been going like house fire. One team has been able to get better than an even break with the team that has been the Pyotts of Chicago.

Just taking a little of the dope, it shows that the Sammies have a good chance to do the same thing in their battles with the Iron Men on their home field in the Windy city. Sammies came away with two victories and one defeat. The Fairies have played four games with the Staleys in which they split the honors. The Sammies played two wins to the Beloit bunch, and while they divided, put up a slightly better slate of play, losing out in the first game on the breaks.

SOX WIN TWICE WHILE CUBS DIVIDE

AMERICAN LEAGUE

It was two straight for the White Sox yesterday, while they defeated the Tigers 8 to 7. Williams and Ennis each lasted seven innings, a home run by Veach in the fifth scored three runs.

In the ninth inning rally, the Yankees defeated the Sox 6 to 5. It was a tight fight right all the way. Cleveland too: two games from St. Louis yesterday, 9 to 6 and 5 to 4 by hitting from pitchers hard and getting material assistance in the second game by errors. Smith's home in the fifth of the first game, put Cleveland in the lead.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The cubs and the Pirates divided a double header. Pittsburgh taking the first, 4 to 3, and Chicago the second, 3 to 2. Carew, two baggers brought in the winning run in the first, while Chicago batted freely in the second.

Cincinnati won from St. Louis 5 to 1. Fisher though hit hard, was tight in the pinches.

Cadore and Mohr were hit hard and Boston defeated Brooklyn 3 to 1.

This makes five of the six of the series won by the Braves. The Dodgers had 12 men left on bases not being able to get them across.

Knocking Rixey off the slab and hammering George Smith, the Giants beat the Redlegs 7 to 1.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

After battling their way to 14 innings, Milwaukee won from Minneapolis when Butler smashed out a home run to send four men across the platter.

FAIRIES HAVE FOUR GAMES WITH PYOTTS

Becht Fairbanks-Morse team will have a strong schedule for the Fourth of July holiday, but they will play only two games at the Gateway city diamond. The opponents are the Pyott Foundation team of Chicago, with whom the Goldie bunch has already been, than an even break.

Saturday and Sunday, the Fairies will play in Chicago, returning to their home town on Monday to play morning and afternoon with the Pyotts.

Madison Golters Play Here Today

Thirty-five members of the Men's Bluff country club division, came here yesterday to play members of the Janesville Country club. Some keen competition is promised with the local links in finest shape.

Luncheon was served to the visitors at noon and a dinner will be tendered them at the club house to-night. Ruth Granger, chairman of the house committee, has charge of the day. She is assisted by Dorothy Korst, Josephine Bliss, Caroline Richardson and Ruth Granger.

LIFE DEPRIVED IS SADLY DEPLORED BY CATHOLIC BISHOP

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, June 30.—Archbishop Prendergast of Philadelphia, in his sermon on the anniversary of the feast of the Assumption, said socialism, federal centralization and socialism in education, in a sermon at the solemn high mass which opened the 17th annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association or the United States here Tuesday.

"I am deeply grieved to think of doubt as to the innocence of our country," he said, "with law courts grinding out divorces ad hausecum, with passing literature that finds it pays to portray characters seeking with moral shame and contending the opposite, with young and old gone mad over the lurid motion picture, with drama deprived in spite of heroic efforts of many who patronize and love the clean play, with the daily press mirroring the crimes and sins of society, with feminine dress mocking modesty, with the decreasing reverence for authority and reverence for the flag of our country—where is the power who has the wisdom? Where is the salvation of the youth of the land?

"Sad is the lament of many thinking people and educators within and without the church, which are the tragic divorce of our system of public education from religion. The constant legal indifference to religious belief and practice in the schoolroom must have its unfortunate effect on the young mind. The nation is bound to feel and suffer the consequences."
